FOREWORD

This gazetteer contains about 10,000 entries for places and features in the Kingdom of Afghanistan. The entries include standard names approved by the Board on Geographic Names and unapproved variant names, the latter cross-referenced to the standard names. Users of the gazetteer should always refer to main entries for approved names.

The basic name coverage corresponds to that of maps at the scale of 1:1,000,000. Entries include the names of first-order administrative divisions, populated places of all sizes, various other cultural entities, and a variety of physical features.

Most of the entities can be identified and located by the approved name or a recognizable variant of the approved name on one of the following sources:

Physical and Political Map of Afghanistan, Afghan Cartographic Institute, 1968; scale 1:1,300,000.

Afghanistan 1:100,000, Afghanistan Geological Survey, Aerial Mapping Department, 1958-60.

Interpretation of entries

It has been necessary to express in code numbers and letters some of the information in the gazetteer in order to accommodate it to the machine method of tabulation.

Name.—Approved standard names and unapproved variant names appear in the first column. The variant names are always cross-referenced to the standard names by use of the word "see."

Where part of a name is underlined, the use of the part not underlined is optional. Where two or more names are approved for a feature, each is identified in parentheses and any or all may be used. Names containing generic elements preceding the specific term (except names of populated places) are alphabetized by the specific part; thus Chashmeh-ye Sabz, the name of a spring, is listed as Sabz, Chashmeh-ye.

As far as possible, Persian and Pashtu names in the gazetteer have been romanized from Persian and Pashtu script according to the transliteration systems approved jointly by the Board on Geographic Names and the Permanent Committee on Geographical Names for British Official Use (the BGN/PCGN 1958 System for Persia, the BGN/PCGN 1988 System for Pashtu), which follow on pages v through xvi. It is almost always necessary to add missing symbols for short vowels (vowel points) in Persian and Pashtu script and to rewrite dialectal forms in standard Persian and Pashtu.

The diacritical marks used in approved names in Afghanistan are the macron (̄), the cedilla (̄), the acute accent (̄), the circumflex in ē, the overline in ū and ū, and the underline in d, n, r, sh, t, z and zh. In addition, the apostrophe (') and the inverted apostrophe (‘), representing the letters hamzeh and eyn, respectively, frequently occur in Persian and Pashtu names.

In writing the names of Afghanistan in capital and lower case letters the initial letter of every word should be capitalized except the following: the word va (and) within names and forms of the definite article within names derived from Arabic such as od in the name Shahāb od Dīn.

Designation.—The second column contains designations or abbreviations of designations, as listed below. Since practically all geographic terms have varied meanings, the senses in which the designator terms are used and the range of features to which they are applied in this gazetteer are stated in the list to reduce ambiguity. The distinctions that can be made in a given gazetteer will vary with the quality of the maps of the area and with the nature of the entities that are named. In Afghanistan some of the features do not fit precisely into the categories used to designate them and others could be designated in two or more ways.

ADM'D first-order administrative division (velāyat)
AREA area (tract of land identified by a name, but without homogeneous character or established boundaries; may be identified and named for characteristics which no longer pertain to it)

BDG	bridge	MRSIH	marsh (wetland characterized by grasses or bush vegetation and few or no trees)
BLDG	building	MT	mountain (landform of conspicuous relief, moderate to high elevation, and small summit area)
CMP	nomadic campsite (permanent camp of nomads)	MTS	mountains; mountain range
CMTY	cemetery	PASS	pass (way over or between mountains or other high land)
CNLI	irrigation canal	PCLI	independent political entity (kingdom)
CNLU	underground irrigation canal (gently inclined underground tunnel bringing water for irrigation from aquifers near the base of mountains)	PK	peak (separately named summit on a more extensive elevation)
DAM	dam (barrier constructed across a stream to impound water)	PLN	plain (landform of low relief, slope, and elevation)
DPR	depression (lower area wholly or largely surrounded by higher land; ordinarily has interior drainage and does not conform to the valley of a single stream)	PPL	populated place (city, town, village, settlement, or other agglomeration of buildings where people live and work)
DSRT	desert (barren tract characterized by arid climate and sparse xerophytic vegetation)	PPLX	section of populated place (part of a city or contiguous urbanized area named as an entity but having no known administrative status)
DUNE	dunes (hills or ridges of sand formed by the action of wind)	PSTB	border post
FRST	forest	RDGE	ridge (elongated, relatively narrow relief feature with a more or less continuous crest)
FT	fort (defensive structure or works, generally of little or no present military significance; may be in state of ruin)	RGN	region (large area recognized as an entity by reason of the unity of its history, people, landscape, or other condition or a combination of conditions)
GRGE	gorge (relatively narrow, steep-sided segment of a streamcourse)	RSV	reservoir (large artificially impounded body of water)
HLL	hill (landform of moderate relief, moderate elevation, and small summit area)	RUIN	ruins (structures in a state of ruin, ruined populated place, destroyed village; not necessarily of great antiquity or archeological interest)
HLLS	hills	SHRN	shrine
HLT	caravan halting place	SITE	site (location of a former village or structure indicating human occupancy with scant remains of the original structure)
ISL	island (riverine)	SPNG	spring
LBED	lakebed (dried up or drained area of a former lake)	STM	stream (river or other running, fresh waterbody, perennial in all or a part of its course)
LCTY	locality (minor area or place of unspecified or mixed character and indefinite boundaries; may have some scattered or isolated population)	STMI	intermittent stream (stream, no part of which is indicated as perennial)
LK	lake	STMX	section of stream (separately named section of a stream having the same other name applied both above and below it, whether or not the section is delimited by confluences)
LKI	intermittent lake (seasonal waterbody which becomes a lake during periods of rain but which dries up or becomes a marsh or waterhole during the dry season)
LKN	salt lake
LKS	lakes
MN	mine

TNL	tunnel
TRB	tribal area
VAL	valley (area between and lower than ridges or other elevations, drained by one or more streams and tributaries)
WLL	well (dug or drilled source of water)
WLLS	wells

Latitude and longitude.—The third and fourth columns indicate geographic coordinates, with longitude based on Greenwich. Coordinates were generally read to the nearest minute and are for finding purposes only.

Coordinates were read at the map symbol for populated places and other entities occupying limited sites, at the mouths or lower ends of streams, at the summits of mountains and hills, and near the centers or midpoints of other features.

Area number.—The number in the fifth column indicates the first-order administrative division (velāyat) of Afghanistan in which the place or feature is located, as listed below:

41900	Afghanistan (general)	41914	Laghmān
41901	Fāryāb	41915	Konarhā
41902	Jowzjān	41916	Vardak
41903	Balkh	41917	Kābul
41904	Samangān	41918	Kāpisā
41905	Qondūz	41919	Lowgar
41906	Takhār	41920	Nangarhār
41907	Badakhshān	41921	Farāh
41908	Bādgīsāt	41922	Helmand
41909	Herāt	41923	Orūzgān
41910	Ghōr	41924	Chaznī
41911	Bāmīān	41925	Paktiā
41912	Baghlān	41926	Nimrūz
41913	Parvān	41927	Qandahār
		41928	Zābul

The general number (41900) is used for international features and for features in two or more first-order administrative divisions.

Glossary of generic terms

The following terms occur as the generic parts of standard names listed in the gazetteer. The meanings given include those supported by application to features named in the gazetteer, whether or not these meanings are given in dictionaries. The parenthetical symbols (C), (Ps), and (R) designate respectively Chinese, Pashto, and Russian words; (Pk) designates forms in international feature names as used in Pakistan. All undesignated words are Persian.

Reporting of errors

It is requested that all who use this gazetteer aid in its correction for future printings by reporting errors and name changes to the Board on Geographic Names, Department of the Interior, Washington, D.C. 20240. A statement of the source of the correct information will be helpful.

Geographic names or their spellings do not necessarily reflect recognition of the political status of an area by the United States Government.

TRANSLITERATION SYSTEM FOR PERSIAN
BGN/PCGN 1958 System

The BGN/PCGN 1958 System for the Persian alphabet was adopted by the BGN in 1946 and by the PCGN in 1958. It is used for the romanization of geographic names in Iran and for Persian-language names in Afghanistan.

The Persian alphabet is the same as the Arabic alphabet except for the addition of four consonant symbols for sounds which do not occur in Arabic. Therefore, the same conversion values are used for the Persian alphabet as for the Arabic alphabet wherever phonetically valid. Where letters common to the two alphabets have different pronunciation in the two languages, conversion values reflecting the Persian pronunciation are provided in the Persian system.

It may be noted that neither the system of pointing nor the conversion values for vowels and diphthongs are the same for Persian as for Arabic.

Persian presents the same problems of vowel pointing as Arabic in that the short vowel symbols necessary for the proper rendering of short vowels, long vowels, and diphthongs are almost always omitted from written Persian. It follows that, in order to produce transliterations in terms of standard written Persian, the transliterator must be able to identify the words used in names and must know their standard written Persian spelling, their proper vowel pointing, and how to eliminate peculiarities due to dialectical variation.

The place-name examples used herein in illustration of the system were drawn from the Board on Geographic Names gazetteer for Iran.

The notes and special rules explain details of transliteration not stated in the tables.

NOTES

1. The Persian writing system, in its generally used form, employs only the symbols found in Table I, and the alef maddeh (ا) of Table II. The symbols in column 1 of Table II are traditional auxiliary symbols used by Persians only sporadically to indicate the exact reading of a given word. In the case of i, ü, ey and ow, a choice of symbology exists, one system adhering to the Arabic tradition, the other being a modification of it. Likewise, there are two ways of writing alef maqsûreh.

The BGN/PCGN transliteration system presupposes forms fully pointed with the Persian symbols represented in Table II, though these are omitted from the examples given below.

2. Alef (ا) occurs with the following uses:
 - a. Initially, it indicates that the word begins with a vowel or diphthong, and the alef itself is not transliterated, e.g., انجیره Anjireh, ایران Eyrân.
 - b. Initially with maddeh (ا), it indicates ā, e.g., آبادان Abâdân.
 - c. Medially and finally, it represents ā, e.g., آبادان Abâdân, تکا Tükâ.
 - d. With hamzeh. See Note 5.
3. Where special considerations are paramount, the sub-dot (h, s, t, z) may be used in place of the cedilla (h, s, t, z).
4. The two-letter symbols kh, zh, sh, and gh are convenient for use and easily comprehensible. The infrequent sequences of kâf, ze, sîn, and gâf followed by he can be unequivocally transliterated for bibliographical purposes by the use of a sian line ("shilling," "solidus") to separate true h from a preceding k, z, s, or g; that is, kh represents khe, but k/h stands for kâf followed by he.
5. Hamzeh (ء) is not regarded as a letter of the Persian alphabet, but as a diacritic mark, and as such is not always expressed in actual writing. In fully pointed words, however, it appears in several graphic forms, standing alone or written in conjunction with alef, vâv, or ye (the ye in this instance being undotted). All these forms are transliterated simply with the apostrophe in the form resembling a small raised figure 9 (ء), e.g., جوز, سهراء safrâ', ماخا ma'kha, موتنام, پائين pâ'in.

Occasionally a word may appear pointed according to the strict Arabic tradition so as to indicate an initial hamzeh. This initial hamzeh is never transliterated, but only the vowel which it carries, e.g., ءا, whether pointed ءا or ءي, is transliterated simply Anjireh.

Hamzeh is also sometimes written over final he or ye to represent the -ye form of the ezâjeh, cf. Note 8.

6. Alef maddeh is used initially to indicate ā, e.g., آبادان Abâdân. Noninitially it indicates 'â in words of Arabic origin, and must be so transliterated, e.g., قرآن Qur'ân, مادب.
7. Tashdid (ئ) indicates doubling of the consonant over which it is written and is represented in transliteration by writing the consonant twice, e.g., محمد Mohammad. The sequence kasreh ye ye (written ئئي) is transliterated iy. In names of Arabic origin containing the definite article, the vowel of the article is transliterated according to its Persian pronunciation and the lâm, when followed by a "sun letter" (t, s, d, z, r, s, sh, z, s, z, t, z, l, n) is assimilated. The article is written in lower case and separate from the preceding and following word, e.g., زین الدین, Zeyn od Dîn, but زن آن, Zeyn ed Dîni. Cf. Special Rule 1.
8. The relational suffix (ezâjeh) is transliterated -e after final consonants (except for silent h). After silent h and after vowels, it is transliterated -ye. It is usually not expressed in Persian writing after a consonant (kasreh being understood), e.g., کوهMarghub Küh-e Marghüb. After final alef or vâv it is written with ye (ي), e.g., پا آب Pâ-ye Ab, جوی اس Jû-ye As. After ye (ي) and silent he it is written as hamzeh over the letter, e.g., نه بزم, Dahâneh-ye Mambar, سلسله بزم Salasi-ye Bozorg.

SPECIAL RULES

1. In Persian names of Arabic origin, the word division used for transliterating Arabic will obtain, except that names ending in the word Allāh will be written solid and the a of Allāh will be replaced by o, e.g., 'Abdollah. The Arabic definite article when not subject to assimilation will be written al in name-initial position but usually cl elsewhere, e.g., Al Hā'i but Zū ol Faqār. Cf. Note 7 above.
2. In Persian names in general, in sequences of name elements pronounced as a single unit, division into separate words will be made after Persian letters written in the word final form. (But see the Rule immediately below.)
3. The word ābād which occurs very frequently at the end of place names will be written solid with the preceding word; e.g., Allāhābād, not Allāh Abād.
4. Persian derivational endings such as vand and Turkish and other endings such as lar, li and lū will be written solid with the preceding word, whether so written in Persian script or not.
5. The letter he, when used in Turkish fashion for word internal e, will be transliterated eh as usual but will be written solid with the remainder of the word.
6. Khe plus vāv followed by long vowel or khe plus vāv followed by zammeh will be rendered khv although the v is not pronounced.

TRANSLITERATION SYSTEM FOR PASHTU
BGN/PCGN 1968 System

The BGN/PCGN System for the transliteration of the Pashtu alphabet was adopted in 1968 for the romanization of Pashtu geographical names in Afghanistan.

The Pashtu alphabet is the same as the Persian alphabet except for eight consonant symbols for sounds not occurring in Persian. The same conversion values are used for all consonant symbols which Pashtu and Persian have in common. The eight consonant symbols peculiar to Pashtu are represented by conversion values suggesting to speakers of English their approximate pronunciation with the addition of underlining in the case of those six Pashtu letters which differ from basic Persian letters only in the addition of peculiarly Pashtu diacritical marks.

The system of vowel pointing used in Pashtu resembles that of both Arabic and Persian but contains features found in neither. As with other Arabic-alphabet languages the vowel points are usually omitted from written and printed texts and where used are not always consistent from text to text. For the sake of completeness the vowel points are given in both Table II and all examples of romanized names in the tables and notes.

In view of the foregoing it follows that a romanizer of Pashtu must be able to identify the words used in Pashtu names and must know their proper vowel pointing unless he has access to vowelled sources for names.

NOTES

1. "Alip" (ج) occurs with the following uses:
- Initially it indicates that a word begins with a vowel or a diphthong. In this case the "alip" itself is not transliterated.
 - Initially with "maddah" (ج), it indicates "ā". See Table II.
 - Medially and finally it represents "ā". See Table II.
 - Medial and final "alip" may also be used as a bearer of "hamzah" in words of Arabic origin. e.g., (ج) ra's. Also see Note 5.
2. The letters (خ) "tsē" and (خ) "dzē" may be transliterated "ts" and "dz" when for special reasons it is desired that confusion be avoided between ج plus س and ج plus ز respectively.
3. The letter (خ), "dzē", is written two ways in different publications, sometimes (خ) and sometimes (خ).
4. The letter (ج), "gāp" is also written as (ج). In some areas the latter form is more prevalent.
5. The two-letter symbols kh, zh, sh, and gh are convenient for use and easily comprehensible. The infrequent sequences of kāf, zē, sin and gāp followed by hē can be unequivocally transliterated for bibliographical purposes by the use of a slant line ("shilling," "solidus") to separate true h from a preceding k, z, s, or g; that is, kh represents khē, but k/h stands for kāf followed by hē.
6. "Hamzah" is treated as follows:
- When initial, it is disregarded; elsewhere it is transliterated with the apostrophe resembling a small raised figure 9, e.g. (ج) juz', (ج) ra's, (ج) mu'min, (ج) fa'id.
 - It is placed over a (ي) "yē" to form the diphthong "ey".
7. The division of words as indicated in Pashtu writing is followed in transliteration, except that the elements "ābād" and "ollāh" are always rendered as part of the preceding word. e.g. Rahmatābād and 'Abdullāh. Also Persian derivational endings such "vand" and endings of Turkic origin such as "lar, lf, and lū" will be written solid with the preceding word.
8. The Pashtu particle (د) should be transliterated "de" in agreement with its pronunciation despite the fact that it is pointed with zir.
9. The word (ال) meaning God is always to be rendered as "allāh" except as noted in Note 7 above.
10. In names of Arabic origin the "l" of the definite article "al" is assimilated before the "sun letters" "t, s, d, z, r, z, s, sh, q, z, t, z, and n". The article is spaced from the name it precedes and is not capitalized except at the beginning of a name. e.g.

دَارُ السَّلَامِ Dār as Salām.

11. Tashdid " ۝ " indicates doubling of the consonant over which it is written and is represented in transliteration by writing the consonant twice e.g. مُحَمَّدٌ Muhammad.

Created in 1849, the Department of the Interior—America's Department of Natural Resources—is concerned with the management, conservation, and development of the Nation's water, wildlife, mineral, forest, and park and recreational resources. It also has major responsibilities for Indian and Territorial affairs and for standardization of Federal usage of both domestic and foreign geographic names.

As the Nation's principal conservation agency, the Department works to assure that nonrenewable resources are developed and used wisely, that park and recreational resources are conserved for the future, and that renewable resources make their full contribution to the progress, prosperity, and security of the United States—now and in the future.
